Dear Karen,

Well this ends our sophomore year but we still have two years to go. I'll bet if the next 2 years go as fast as this one we will be graduating before we know it. Lets get together more often this summer & have ourselves a ball. Rick is going in the Navy June 21 so I will have loads of spare time.

Remember the day I stacked your locker? I wonder who stacked mine during the following class?! I wonder if we will have just as much fun in our Senior year as in our sophomore year. I sure love the kids up here. Downtown they are just big snobs compared to how friendly they are up here.

Remember all the times we snuck into History late? Fun huh? Well, Kar, I guess I have run out of space so - see ya! Good Luck

Love,

Carol

TO THE SENIORS

I wish to congratulate all the seniors of 1956, who are graduating this year. We will all of us miss you. But we cannot stop and ponder over what has transpired. We must go on and carry out our own careers. There is an opportunity for everyone if it is taken at the right time. For as Shakespeare says, "There is a tide in the affairs of man, which when taken at its flood leads on to fortune." We must remember that we cannot stand still. The world rushes on every day, and if we dally along, and fail to go along with the tide, we will be left behind, discouraged and disappointed. One thing we can always do that will brighten our pathway--that is to be kind, considerate, and fair in our treatment of mankind. Smile and you will receive a smile in return. Be good to people, do good to them and you shall be happy.

After acquiring as much knowledge as is reasonably possible about himself and his environment, it is the privilege of each individual to make suitable decisions. Up to this stage in life, the time of departing from high school, each senior has been in a large measure counseled at home in making his decisions. He has now reached one of the many crossroads of life and must determine where he shall be, how he shall be and what he shall be in the world. Regardless of which way he turns, he will be faced again and again with making additional decisions, some apparently small and others obviously large, every one of which will contribute in designing his whole pattern of life--its worthiness, usefulness and happiness.

Salutatorian: Carol Jean Soderberg

Seated above are Claire Torba, Gordon Voss and Nancy Marttila. Standing are Gladys Winquist, Mary Ann Meinershagen, Carol Jean Soderberg, Karen Halli and Grace Barquist. Nancy Peterson was absent when the picture was taken.

It has been said that fortunate is the man who is born with brains, but even more fortunate are those who have displayed their brains in situations outside the cradle. The group named above are the eight top ranking members of the senior class. Their intelligence has not only been indicated by their scholarship but by their personalities, which reflect enthusiasm, integrity, co-operation and good-will.

The Proctor Rails of 1955-56 elected as captains Tom Stewart and Dick Pesonen. Although the team was handicapped by lack of experience, they showed spirit and sportsmanship. With a majority of new squad members they started slowly but gained speed and assurance as the season progressed. Under the able direction of coaches Chapman and McIntire the team looks toward a better record next year.

The cheerleading squad of 1955-56 under the supervision of Miss Wangaard has helped to build school morale. The group consisted of four seniors -- Alice Gagne, Claire Torba, Carol Erickson and Sharon Baker -- and three sophomores -- Jean Sowa, Debbie Tresise and Becky Korby. Little Michell Torba acted as the mascot.

These girls have done a commendable job in cheering our boys to victory at basketball games, football games and pep assemblies. Special recognition is given to Claire Torba and Carol Erickson, who have been cheerleaders for three consecutive years.

MAJORETTES

Betty Larsen, Sharyn Torba, Bertha Fransk, Barbara Jugasek, Karen Breimon.

Dear Karen,
Best of luck
in the future to a swell kid. Barb

Pert, pretty, and peppy - - these qualities describe our majorettes. This year the position of head majorette was very competently filled by Nancy Peterson, a senior who also had charge of instructing the future majorettes of P.H.S. Assisting her were Betty Larsen, senior; Sharyn Torba and Barb Jugasek, juniors; Bertha Fransk, sophomore; and Karen Breiman, freshman. The precision timing of these girls provided eye-catching entertainment at the half-time of home basketball games and added color to our marching band.

ACTIVITIES

Nancy Weselik, Lollie Zebott, Carol Gulbranson.

The 1955-56 Halloween Queen was crowned at a Halloween Carnival sponsored by the band. This year's queen was attractive Janice Wedlund, the junior candidate. She was crowned by Carol Bethune, the queen of 1954. Carol Gulbranson, Nancy Weselik, and Lollie Zebott were chosen by their respective classes as attendants.

HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL

HOMECOMING

The 1955-56 Homecoming Queen was crowned at the half-time ceremony of the Proctor-Cloquet game. The candidates were selected by the basketball team; from this group, Betty Larsen was chosen queen by a student ballot. Her attendants included Carol Peterson, Laurie Russ, Nola Lashua and Nancy Peterson. The crown and robe bearers were Linda and Larry Bohlin.

F.F.A. SWEETHEART

Kathe Terrell, Alice Erickson, Lois Fontaine, Jean Sowa, Corrine Robertz and Judy Randall.

The 1956 F.F.A. Sweetheart was Corinne Robertz, who was crowned by Captain Clarence Pickus during the half-time ceremony of the annual F.F.A. vs. Faculty game. The candidates were selected by the F.F.A. team, and Corinne was chosen queen by the popular vote of the students attending the dance.

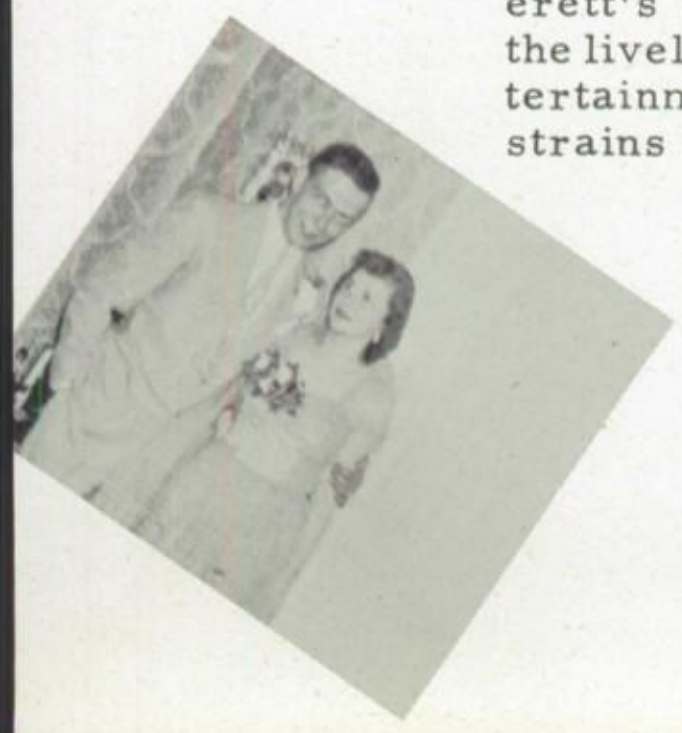
PROM

An atmosphere of excitement prevailed when the juniors entertained the seniors for the first time at the Duluth Athletic Club. Beautiful formals, animated faces and elaborate decorations conformed with the theme, "Gay Paree". Master of Ceremonies, Jim Mosack, called upon the seniors to present the mixing spoons to Lollie Zebott and Wayne Johnson. Roland Everett's orchestra supplied gay music for the lively crowd who attended to enjoy entertainment, good food, and a waltz to the strains of "Blue Moon".



PROPHECY FOR THE CLASS OF 1956

It is the year 1966; the scene is the Proctor airport. The Maxmobile, which is the newest form of transportation, is about to take the class of 1956 to our reunion on the earth's satellite. The Maxmobile, which can travel on land, in the air and on the sea, was invented by Wayne Johnson. George Goodell, whose hobby used to be blowing up laboratories, is refueling the Maxmobile with his atomic fuel. Carl Neubauer, former delivery boy, will drive it. Among the local passengers boarding are Beth Engstrom and Claire Torba. Beth is a secretary in the White House. It is the third house from the corner on Boundary Avenue. Claire set a new record in this country by making a non-stop swim across Rocky Run! Claire says that Leslie Hutchins, the school nurse, cannot attend because there is an epidemic of spring fever. Anyce Traplay and Alice Gagne are next to arrive. Anyce has gone into business with her father and cleans the combs in his barber shop. Alice, the former Miss Proctor, has been named Mrs. Munger. You will remember that Joe Provinske was interested in horses. He fulfilled his ambition by becoming an operator of the merry-go-round at the Proctor Fair. Four of our married classmates--Lollie Zebott, Karen Gulbranson, Kay Hannigan and Gloria Kohs -- almost missed the Maxmobile because they had babysitter troubles. Donna Helland lives in Proctor but a slight accident prevented her attendance. She works in the high school library and got lost somewhere among the shelves of books so she couldn't be informed about the reunion. Judy Nyquist is not here because she became interested in hypnotism and tried it on herself. Now she doesn't know how to get out of the trance.

We leave Proctor for the short glide into Duluth where we pick up John Platzer and Carol Erickson. John's long beard qualified him for the position of Mr. Tolliver. Carol is one of the songsters for the Taystee Bread commercial. Our next stop is Pike Lake. Karen and Karol Sequin, who married shortly after school, came aboard with their blond twins. Phyllis Sundbom and Brenda Weselik, new managers of the roller skating rink, live here. They have improved the popular rink by adding foam rubber floors. In Cloquet we find Dale White, who bought the Cloquet Paper Mills to repay the typing paper which he borrowed in high school. Ina Bruley, who always liked Cloquet, is working for him. When we reach Minneapolis we learn that little Lulu Winquist is an advertizer for the Kleenex Company. Last week Gladys was awarded a gold-plated kleenex box for her ten thousandth sale. Across the river in St. Paul, Carol Larson is working as a gift wrapper. Carol ties all the packages with the ribbons which she won at the local fair. The latest report about Arthur Maki from Sleepy Eye, Minnesota, is that he holds the U. S. Sleeping Record. He gained his experience in school and isn't present because no one could awaken him. We travel to North Dakota where we locate Dick Robertz, who has just been selected to attend the Olympics as the U. S. cow clipping champion. Dick Knudsen from Beardsly, S. D. wrote that he could not meet us because he broke his leg by tripping over his beard. Our next stop, Denver, is for Dick Pesonen, who made news recently when he ran the one minute mile. He was running to Carol Peterson's house and was late. Carol is a beauty operator. Her most recent customer was Lassie, who needed a poodle cut. In Nevada we pause briefly for Davy Brown. He has become a modern Davy Crockett with his title, "Davy Brown, King of the Wild Universe." Sun Valley, Idaho is the home of Richard Vanneste. He invented a sunlamp that shuts off automatically to eliminate sun burned faces. Sharon Bohlin and Myrna Kolenda await our arrival in Los Angeles. Sharon is the country's most famous "talker". She has just won national honors for talking continuously for sixty-five hours at the rate of two hundred words per minute. Myrna is Sharon's secretary; no one else could keep up with her rapid dictation. Hollywood has attracted Gordon Voss and Bob Cherne, better known as the "Chemistry Crooners." They hit the top of the musical world with the recording, "Son of Sh-Boom." Emilie Helquist and Violet Johnson also join us at this star-studded city. Emilie is employed by Walt Disney as the new Woody Woodpecker while Violet is the soloist on the "Mickey Mouse Club." Larry Nesbit, too, is working in television--he lights Liberace's candles. Starring on the Little Rascals is Grace Barquist. Bonnie Skog is Charlie McCarthy's personal nurse. As we leave Hollywood we turn toward Needles, California, where Laurie Russ, who was interested in sewing and music, has accomplished her ambition--she sews buttons on band uniforms.

At El Paso, Texas, we find Lois Johnson, Karen Halli, and Joyce Kauppi. Lois is the owner of the 1960 Kentucky Derby winner and Karen is her jockey. Joyce, always a good sewer, wanted to do something big. She now sews pockets on kangaroos. We leave Texas and travel east. Basking in the Miami sun are Jerry Engstrom and Glen Sjoberg. They became millionaires by selling their excuses from school to a scrap paper company. Marilyn Norstrom and MaryAnn Meinershagen are at Miami Beach. Marilyn models bobby-pins in the Blackstone Hotel.

MaryAnn, who was always fond of fruit, is now working at a fruit stand where she squeezes the lemons. Peggy Voltze is awaiting us at Daytona Beach where she is working in a thermometer factory. She always did like Mercury. The Maxmobile drops down at Nelson, Georgia, where Roger Nelson and LaRaene Koski, two western singers, were happy that transportation was provided because Roger's car wouldn't start. At Nashville, Tennessee, Mary Lou McGovern, champion yodeler on the "Grand Old Opry", boards our luxury transport. The next stop is at Farmland, Indiana. John Nolin and Norman Watry are partners on a huge farm on which they are trying to cross potatoes and gravy to save work for the homemaker.

Traveling to Bridgemen, Michigan, we are joined by Denny Sorenson and Carol Anderson. Denny is the owner of a chain of ice cream drive-ins known as "Denny's Delite." Carol sold her share of Hassett's to go into business with Denny; she puts the cherries on the sundaes. Waiting for us in Detroit are Jim Gilbert and Pat Shannon. Jim saved all of his cars and now has a junk yard. Pat, the class booster, is the sales promoter for a yo-yo company. Once again the ivy halls of learning beckon us as we search out our classmate, Jim Olson, who is teaching law at Harvard. The mustard seed of interest planted in business law class found a place of germination and produced an authority on contracts.

Tall skyscrapers come into sight as we near New York City. Paul Swenson, Tom Stewart, Kathy Hanson, Barbara Johnson, and Carol Jean Soderberg can be seen near the runway waving eagerly. Paul is the commentator on the T.V. show, "You are Where?". He will be master of ceremonies at the reunion program. In high school Tom was very interested in sports. Now he is the game director for the Pinky Lee show. Carol Jean is in the field of television using her exceptional talents. She rings the bell on "Ding-Dong School." Kathy and Barb, who seemed shy during their school days, are now members of the Goldwyn Girls Chorus line. We fly to Boston for Jim Mosack and Clarence Pickus. Jim has just edited a spelling book for college students, and Clarence, who did such a good job of selling his excuses for school absences, is selling magazines. We gain speed as we soar over the water of the Atlantic toward London to get Gerrit Vandenberg and Bob Johnson. They have become competitors of Orson Wells in their stupendous Shakespearian productions. In a few moments our Maxmobile leaves for the land of the Norse. Amid the snow-capped peaks of Norway, Paul Sandstrom has constructed a skiing center which he calls Snoose-O-Lac. Anticipation fills the congenial atmosphere as we set the controls on the instrument panel for Paris, where Sharon Baker and Fern Johnson meet us. Sharon has made a remarkable contribution to the woman's world. With her chemistry class in mind she made a hypnotic cologne which literally transforms the user. Fern's latest accomplishment as an artist was designing the backs of erasers for study hall blackboards. Having acquired our two passengers, we fly to Rome, the adopted home of Cathie Clement, Sylvia Gannucci, and Betty Larson. Champions seem to prevail in the Clement family, and Cathie has kept with the family tradition by becoming the world tid-dle-winks champ. Sylvia and Betty, who did a splendid Indian portrayal in the vaudeville, are employed in the advertising department of Welch's Grape Juice Company. While the Maxmobile refuels, we eat at LeRoy McKibbon's restaurant. Though LeRoy caters to many wealthy patrons, his specialty is sloppy-joes. Soon our stewardess, Yvonne Ferguson, informs us that we must leave to get Nancy Marttila in the Sahara Desert. She owns a Gamble's store there and reports that though there is little business, the climate is agreeable. Next we go to Melbourne, Australia. David Mattson has driven to the station in his car, the Mattso-matic, which he displayed in the world auto show. We are suspicious that he designed it in Social class. The air becomes slightly chilly and ice forms on the wings as we arrive in Nome, Alaska. Darlene Dickoff, with her experience at National, and Mary Grohsman, the silent partner, operate a store in this goldmining town of the past. They boast of dog-sled delivery within twenty miles. Slightly to the east in Chicken, Alaska is Larry Bjorlin. We were detained there several minutes because Larry was gathering the eggs on his poultry farm. We were planning to pick up Berit Mattson, but a radio message tells us to continue. Berit, who went to Alaska after graduation, could not be located because her dog-sled got stalled in the snowstorm. In her excitement Berit kept yelling "oatmeal" instead of "mush". At last the journey around the world to gather together our scattered classmates is nearing its close, with only one more stop--the North Pole. Nola Lashua and Nancy Peterson, two biologists, are enjoying their Arctic tour looking for a sixteen-legged pink mosquito.

We hear the familiar words, "Please fasten your seat belts," from our stewardess as we blast off the frozen wastes and speed on our course toward the earth's satellite and the reunion of classmates.

CLASS HISTORY

Class officers, sophomore through senior years, were Jim Mosack, Gordon Voss, Bob Cherne, Dick Pesonen, Gladys Winquist, Karen Gulbranson, Brenda Weselik, Carol Erickson and Donna Helland.

In the fall of '53 we registered for our sophomore year. It was a new and fascinating experience to be a part of the high school. The class elected Gordon Voss, president; Bob Cherne, vice-president; Gladys Winquist, secretary; and Carol Erickson, treasurer. A Get Acquainted Party for the freshmen at the West Side was our first activity. This time it was our turn to plan the costumes and entertainment. Rosemary Busch represented our class at the Halloween Carnival. Lois Johnson and Nola Lashua were our F. F. A.-Sweetheart candidates at the annual F. F. A.-Faculty game. The lucky band members traveled to the Mardi Gras celebration in picturesque New Orleans. The sophomore class party was attended by a motley and colorful crowd. An Hawaiin theme with palm trees and hula-dancers prevailed.

During our junior year we engaged in many extra-curricular activities. Jim Mosack, Karen Gulbranson, Donna Helland, and Brenda Weselik were our class officers. Our Halloween Carnival candidate was Leslie Hutchins. For the first time we demonstrated our dramatic ability by presenting the class play, BOOKS AND CROOKS. This comedy was presented on November 11, 1954. During the Christmas vacation the band members of the class had an unforgettable trip to the Orange Bowl at Miami. Students and faculty were enthusiastic about the opening of the new addition to the school. The commercial, the agricultural, and the music departments were moved into the more luxurious quarters. Lois Johnson was crowned Sweetheart at the F. F. A.-Faculty game, which was hilarious as usual. Carol Peterson represented the junior class also. Early that year the class began earning money for the Prom, which was held in the Duluth Athletic Club. Our theme was "Gay Paree" with the ballroom decorated as a side-walk cafe with a Bohemian atmosphere. The music was furnished by Roland Everett's orchestra. The summer following our junior year Alice Gagne received the title, "Miss Proctor". Gladys Winquist and Jim Mosack were selected by the American Legion to attend Girls' and Boys' State. The "big" year for the ego to flourish was approaching.

In September of 1955 the long anticipated position was reached. Lollie Zebott was our Halloween Carnival candidate. Much of our time was spent in activities to help finance the yearbook, a prodigious task demanding the efforts of a willing group. Seniors sponsored candy and milk sales, a magazine drive, a movie and other projects. The class elected Gordon Voss, Jim Mosack, Gladys Winquist, and Dick Pesonen as their officers. Pretty Betty Larsen was crowned our Homecoming Queen. In February we began practicing for the class play, TOO MANY DATES. Days before commencement hurried by; practice of the processional march for graduation came; another scroll of our history is about to unfold.

Canteen officers: Carol Anderson, president; David Mattson, vice-president; Richard Vanneste, treasurer; Claire Torba, secretary.

The Canteen provides recreational dancing for teen-agers. Its present successful status is due to the efforts of the officers in particular and to the cooperation of volunteer adults. The dances, which are held in the village hall on Friday nights, are well attended by young people. Holidays are given special recognition to add interest and variety. The worthwhile objectives and achievements of the group are evidenced by their recent donations of three hundred dollars to the Annual Fund and fifty dollars to the polio drive. The Canteen president, Carol Anderson, has done an effective job of directing and supervising the activities of this organization.

Dear Karen,

Well I don't know what to write or what to say. It's pretty good not knowing what to write to your own cousin. Now if I was writing this to a boy I could probably think of everything under the sun HA. HA. (Big Deal)

It's been swell having you to tell all my troubles to & look for the friendship when I needed it the most. It's fun having a cousin the same age as myself & then I have one that is so understanding.

I know how mad you get every winter & summer when I come up & go off with some old boy. Remember Cooney & Butch & David & of course David Johnson.

Remember the night you & I went to the show & my kicks & we said the best trying to get a rail out of the seat. It was fun while it lasted.

P.P.S.S. Be Good

Well gotta go.

Love Always

Jean

P.S. I had to write big because I run out of things to say.
